WELFARE WORKER FOR $5,000 A YEAR

HE WOULD SAVE COUNTY THIS ANNUALLY

WOULD BE PREVENTIVE

Is up to the County to Take or Leave the Proposition That National League Explains

For an annual expenditure of $5,000 Nodaway County would be enabled to have a county public welfare superintendent. After the work of the welfare superintendent is well established it would cut down the expenses of the county in other ways so that the organization could be carried on without any added expense.

This statement was put forth last night at the weekly dinner of the Maryville Chamber of Commerce by J. Adams Puffer, national welfare worker. Mr. Puffer spoke Sunday at Hopkins and at Pickering on the same subject.

The duties of the welfare superintendent would be that of looking after the poverty stricken of the county, doing the probation and juvenile court work, taking care of the parole problem and being truant officer. He would be a man for the purpose of carrying on preventive measures rather than those of cure. He would eliminate the situations that now exist at a great expense to the county by preventing them.

Nodaway County now has three boys in the state reformatory at Boonville and they are costing the county $800 annually. It has one girl at Chillicothe that is costing the county $180 annually, at total of $980 in this way alone. The county maintains a corps of deputy sheriffs at considerable expense for the purpose of maintaining order and chasing down those who have committed crime, a big expense. The county is spending perhaps $5,000 a year on its county farm.

With a welfare superintendent to look after the poverty, probation, parole and truancy matters these conditions could be eliminated in practically every case. Truancy from schools is a forerunner of the crimes that most of the juveniles commit. The home breaks down in some way and the child drops out of school. He goes from bad to worse and pretty soon he commits some crime and is sent away to reform. The superintendent would make conditions such that the child would seldom commit a crime. In North Carolina, where the welfare work has been carried on for several years as a state-wide movement, 50,000 children have been put in school, who were not attending before. There are many in Missouri who are not attending schools, although we have the compulsory laws, and it is from among them that the criminals are coming.

Then there is the parole problem. When a man or a boy or a girl has been in a penal institution and returns he is up against a hard problem, for there is no one to trust him and take him in or advise with him as to what to do. Everyone distrusts him and the next thing that happens he goes back in the old path again and is soon confined because of a crime. The superintendent would be his friend that he could turn to and he would assist him in getting him work and the confidence of people and in that way prevent him from again committing crime. A considerable percentage of the inmates of asylums are as sane now as any one, but they cannot be sent back home because of the problem of getting them again into society. No one wants to be a friend to them. But the welfare worker would look after him and eliminate the expense of taking care of him in the institution.

Another duty of the superintendent would be that of looking after the defective persons of the community. Mr. Puffer said that the tests in the army showed that 5 per cent of the people were of such a mental capacity that they could not take and obey orders. They could only do hard work that demanded no brains. But this class of people is the kind that has the large families. On the other hand there is 5 per cent of the people who have an intellect far above the average and this class has but small families. It is from those of the low intellect that the criminals come and the lower the intellect the higher the birthrate. The welfare worker, would, in as much as it is possible to do so, prevent the marriage of such people. "With the birth

Miners Were Found Dead In The Argonaut; A 22-Day Struggle

Jackson, Cal., Sept. 19—A note found on one of the bodies in the Argonaut indicated that all the men had died within five hours of the beginning of the fire August 27, officials said.

Their bodies were found last night inside a rude bulkhead they had built and stuffed with their clothing in an effort to make it airtight.

The rock was bored through yesterday three weeks and a few hours after the forty-seven had been trapped in the mine by fire.

All the miners were found behind the second of two bulkheads they had built in a cross cut 4,350 feet down in the Argonaut mine. Byron O. Pickard chief of the federal bureau of mines for this district, was the first man to go behind the bulkhead and discovered the bodies.

Pickard, on an earlier exploration behind this bulkhead, had counted forty-two bodies and expressed the belief then that there were others there.

"3 a. m., gas bad."

The same note bore a scrawled figure "4," apparently indicating the same man had attempted to leave word for those who might come after of the condition of the mine at that hour.

Mine officials declared that the condition of the cross-cut behind the bulkhead was such that life could not have been sustained there by the entombed men more than five hours.

The bodies were found piled one on top of another and decomposition had progressed so far that identification would be impossible, Pickard reported.

The mine officials said that the actions of the men, as shown by the bulkheads they built and other matters, indicated that they had died within five hours after being entombed.

The officials declared the mute evidence of the men's struggles showed they were forty-seven of the most cool-headed men imaginable.

Sixteen of the entrapped miners removed their clothing to provide material for stuffing the cracks in the wooden barrier, hastily constructed, which was found early last night.

Then another barrier was built of rock, earth and debris. However, the gas and fumes from the fire apparently penetrated the first bulkhead and the men fled from the site where they were building the second one to start a third, farther on.

This third attempt to wall off the death-dealing gas was made at the end of the 4,350-foot cross cut in the Argonaut, but the fact that only a bare start was made at it proved the mine officials said, that the deadly carbon monoxide and the suffocating carbon dioxide had reached it and performed their fatal office before the forty-seven unfortunates could raise even an excuse for a barrier.

Mine officials said that death had come to the entombed men painlessly. The gases, they say, would produce first a lethargy, then a coma and finally death.

NEW WATER MAIN TO BE LAID FROM SEVENTH AND MULBERRY

A new water main must be laid from Seventh and Mulberry streets to the new dormitory at the State Teachers College to supply it with water. A tap will be placed in this also to be run to the main building for the purpose of augmenting the small main that now supplies that with water. The new main is to be laid with 6-inch pipe, while the one that now runs to the dormitory is of 2½-inch diameter. The old line is not large enough to furnish all the water that the College building needs, let alone supply the dormitory, Mayor Fred P. Robinson said this afternoon.

The material for laying the new line was ordered some time ago, but has not arrived here yet. The mayor said that he was anxious for it to come so that a force could be put on the job in time to get it in before it becomes cold, as it is difficult to do such work if the weather is cold. The city is to lay one block of the line and the College is to lay the rest, the mayor said.

GAS IN ARGONAUT HINDERS WORK OF REMOVING BODIES

Definite Plans for the Burial of the Victims Have Not Been Announced as Yet.

Jackson, Cal., Sept. 19—Gas conditions in the Argonaut mine is reported as delaying the work of reaching the forty-seven bodies of the men entombed three weeks ago. Some of the officials report that they are in favor of holding all the bodies underground until they could be brought up tonight.

Definite burial plans are unannounced, although it is understood to be handled by the mining company under the jurisdiction of the state health authorities.

In addition to the state probe of the accident, there is to be started possibly by the government, an investigation also to ascertain if the safety code of the state were also inadequate.

HARDING VOTOES SOLDIERS BONUS

MESSAGE SAID BECAUSE OF FAILURE TO PROVIDE FUNDS

BILL IS NOW DOOMED

House Will Over Rule the President But the Senate Will Sustain Him

Washington, Sept. 19—The president this afternoon vetoed the soldiers bonus bill and returned it to congress with the message explaining that the bill was unacceptable because it fails to provide revenue to pay the bonus.

Washington, Sept. 19—A careful poll of congress indicated today that the house will over rule the expected veto to the bonus bill by the president and repass the bill but that the senate will sustain the veto, thus killing the bill so far as this congress is concerned. The message is understood to be virtually completed and it refuses to accept since the legislation has no means of providing the money to meet the bonus. It is expected early this afternoon. The white house is silent in advance of the message.

BIG REGIONAL CONFEREMCE OG BAPTIST IN ST. JOSEPH

A Number of Prominent Speakers of the Nation are Scheduled to Appear September 28.

The representatives of fifteen Baptist District Associations will gather in a Regional Conference at the First Baptist church in St. Joseph on Thursday, September 28th. This will be the third of five such conferences, the other meetings being held at Poplar Bluff, Hannibal, Columbia, and Springfield, and is a part of the preparation for the Baptist 75 Million Reinforcement Campaign which is to close December 3rd.

The speakers will be Dr. L. R. Scarborough, General Director of the 75 Million Campaign; Dr. J. C. Owen, Director for Missouri in the Reinforcement Campaign; Dr. O. L. Wood, General Superintendent of State Missions in Missouri, and Dr. S. M. Brown, one of the editors of the denominational paper, the Word and Way." At the meeting, the whole campaign movement will be thoroughly explained and questions answered and the various county organizations perfected. There will be several inspirational addresses particularly by Dr. Scarborough. All four of the visitors are recognized as ranking high among the outstanding leaders of the denomination.

Western and Central Missouri institutions have been special beneficiaries of the 1919 movement. William Jewell College, at Liberty, has received $161,000 from the special pledges made in the former campaign effort; Southwest Baptist College, at Bolivar, has benefitted by the sum of $40,000; Hardin College, at Mexico, and Stephens, at Columbia, have seen $40,000 and $88,000 added to their respective endowments. The Orphans' Home, near St. Louis, with added funds of $166,884 has been the largest beneficiary among the Missouri institutions.

The present time marks the halfway point in the five year program of the 1919 effort. 40,000 have been received into the Missouri Baptist churches within the 2½ years, and more than 554,000 in the Southern Convention territory. The Reinforcement Campaign is an endeavor to enlist these new comers, secure the renewed interest of the entire membership, and, in general, to strengthen the denominational work along all lines.

LIBRARY AT STATE TEACHERS COLLEGE IS CROWDED

The record enrollment at the State Teachers College is making the library at the institution a busy place. This morning all of the tables were crowded and many students were forced to go elsewhere to study. The enrollment for the past summer was much larger but the library was equipped with fixtures borrowed from the Maryville High School. These, however, are not available now and for that reason the seating and studying capacity is not large enough at times.

When spoken to this morning about the situation, C. E. Wells, librarian, said that it would be possible to place more chairs in the library but that tables were not available. The reference books and other reading and study matter in the library are of the best and are quite enough to meet the demands of the student body.

Many of the students who are not able to find study room in the library are going to the auditorium and ladies rest room to study. Still others remain in classrooms for the preparation of their lessons.

STREET GANG IS FIXING "DIP" ON EAST THIRD STREET

Pavement to Be Raised so That It Will be About Smooth—Work on West Third

The city has a gang of men at work today on East Third street fixing the pavement at the "dip" near Short street. At this point the water from the south side must cross to the north. When the pavement was put in too much depression was left for the water and the north side of the street was never good. Mayor Robinson said this afternoon that the pavement will be made higher at that point and the "dip eliminated.

A strip of pavement was put in from West Third street last week to lead from the old pavement to the sidewalk that crosses Mulberry on the north side of Third, eliminating a rough place in going from Third street to Mulberry.

SPOT IS MARKED WHERE INDIANS SPARED TRADER

Urbana, O., Sept. 19.—Wapatomica, the site of an old Indian village, where Simon Girty, the "white savage", rescued Simon Kenton, under sentence of death and about to be burned at the stake by Indians many years ago, has been permanently marked by a flag pole from which floats "Old Glory."

Girty, who lived among the Indians practically his entire life, made an eloquent plea to save the life of the white trader, which so impressed the savages that they gave Kenton an escort to Sandusky, from which point he reached the civilization of his day at Detroit, then little more than a fort and trading post.

HEALTH DEPARTMENT DOES WORK OF INESTIMABLE VALUE

Pickering Man Tells Welfare Worker Little Son Has Been Made Equal Of Other Children

"The Nodaway County Health Department has done and is doing a work in this county that can never be estimated from a standpoint of money," said J. Adams Puffer, national welfare worker, who spoke at the weekly dinner of the Maryville Chamber of Commerce last night. "I spoke to a man at Pickering when I was there regarding the work of a welfare organization. He mentioned the work of the health department. 'Why,' he said, 'Here is my little boy just getting along fine in school now. He always up to a short time ago had trouble with his lessons and he did not get along as well as the other pupils. We did not know that it was due to his eyes. The health department visited the school, examined his eyes and said that they were weak. We took measures to eliminate this handicap and now he gets along just as well as any of the others. The work of the health department can never be estimated from the standpoint of money.'"

IF ADVERTISING WAS STOPPED

Some people have always imagined that advertising adds to the cost of goods, and that the firm that cut this form of expense could sell cheaper.

It is interesting to think what would happen if all at once business firms stopped advertising. The result would be that the enterprising and successful store, the one that gets a good trade because it serves the public efficiently, would be unable to hold its position.

A store of that kind could not show enterprise in attracting the public, because the public would not know what it was doing. People would buy in a haphazard way, largely of the stores that happened to be nearest to them or spend all their time running from one to another. If the enterprising store attempted to handle some big lot at low prices, the public would not know that the goods were there, and the sale would not be a success. This would discourage a man from special attempts to serve the public, and he would run along in a routine way.

The tendency would be for a lot of small stores to spring up, and get the trade away from the enterprising people that now advertise freely. The public would not know that one store was better than another, and a man could charge high prices and people would not have the store advertising by which they could tell what prices should be.

Merchants would find that it did not pay to hold special sales as the public would not notice them if they were held. The constant stream of trade that has been flowing through enterprising stores would dwindle down. When a store sees its volume of trade fall off, the charge per article for retail distribution has to be increased. The cost of distributing stuff could be expected to double under such a system, and there would be a lack of the special opportunities by which the thrifty buyer now saves money.

WELFARE WORKER FOR $5,000 A YEAR

rate as it is among people of the different intellects," said Mr. Puffer, "if things go on as they are the country is damned and doomed. One family in New Jersey sprung from people of low intellect and has cost that state several millions of dollars in the eight generations that it has existed."

Mr. Puffer did not urge the matter of a welfare organization on the people of the county. He said that before any attempt is made to put over a program it will be necessary to have a campaign of education, having speakers at a number of places in the county and getting the people of the county to understand thoroughly what is to be done. He said that this could be done for $500 and it was entirely up to the people of the county to do something or not as they see fit.

At the close of his talk Mr. Puffer threw the meeting open to questioning and several were asked.

"What would be the expense," asked the Rev. Joseph A. Cooper.

"It would be in the neighborhood of $5,000 a year," replied Mr. Puffer, "for it would be necessary to employ the trained worker and furnish him with some money for travel about over the county."

"Where could we get such trained workers?" asked Dr. Fred Keller.

"Some people trained for this work are being turned out by our state university and there are others who have done Red Cross work who are efficient in this line. If you can't get them any other place, go to North Carolina. They have been turning them out there for several years."

"Go to the University of Missouri and get all that there is to be gotten there in studies in sociology and then go to St. Louis, where special courses for such workers have been provided," replied Mr. Puffer.

"Is a man or a woman better on this kind of a job?" asked C. T. Partch, new teacher in vocational guidance at the State Teachers College.

"One seems to do the work as well as the other," was the reply. "There are some cases where women are doing better at it than men. More women are available than men."

Missouri is the second state in the union to take up the matter of public welfare as a state-wide movement, North Carolina being first.

More than 100 men and women attended the dinner last night. The dinner was a good one. It was furnished by the women of the Baptist Church and was served in the basement of the church.

Music for the dinner was furnished by the orchestra of the Baptist Church and it was much appreciated.

CHEAP LOVE FLOODS BERLIN'S 'MARKET.'

Berlin, Sept. 19.—Foreigners touring in Germany, and especially in Berlin, are now the favorite objects of cheap "love at first sight" on account of their high exchange, and very often fall an easy prey to unscrupulous demi-mondaines.

District police stations almost every day are the scenes of tragi-comedies performed by foreigners reporting and complaining about the loss of jewelry and cash after a pleasure trip in a fashionable restaurants and bars ending in a tete-a-tete in some obscure hotel.

While studying the social and economic conditions of Germany in such a peculiar way a Swede recently had stolen from him some 700 kronen, or 200,000 marks, which his girl friend immediately "invested" in goods, namely costly robes, two hats and lingerie. She was hunted up by the police and found unconscious from sniffing cocaine together with other friends, and the Swede was given back his 60,000 marks in cash and the recaptured outfit of the girl.

German papers from time to time contain odd advertisements in the represents a significant example:

"French industrial, shortly Berlin, wants young woman secretary, 15-25 years old, intelligent, representative, able take French dictations phone, thorough knowledge French not required, highest salary, etc."

A Berlin paper commenting on it writes: "We wish to God this foreigner finds his match."

The court house cynic, says it is not what they will do if elected but what they will do if not elected that is worrying the candidates.

When a Maryville man tells you he never smokes in the house you know who is boss in that camp.

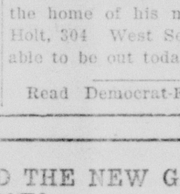
With the long skirts coming back we predict there will be a slump in silk stockings sales in Maryville as many a woman will hunt up those which she discarded because the runners showed below the short skirt.

One of our clothing merchants friends says it is wrong to say there are four seasons. He knows of only two, busy and dull.



Louise, the stenographer, says she has never been able to figure out how wide is a narrow escape.

A big hobo called at the back door of a Maryville home the other day and when the lady of the house came to the door said in a weak voice "Please , mum, I have lost me leg" "Well I have not got it" she hissed as she slammed the door in his face.

Vagrant Musings.

No man has failed until he admits it himself.

Perhaps we are just as big a bore to some people as some people are to us.

It is easy to be an optimist when the other fellow is paying the freight.

There are a lot of married women who like to pretent they are keeping house.

A building contractor can raise on jacks but no good poker player would attempt it.

Model to the Right In the Illustration

Poiret Twill has an envious reputation for beauty and wear and the dress on the right truly evidences this fact. Distinctive indeed are the side strap effects, back and front, the dainty silk stitchings, novelty sleeves and graceful collar. A find pure and simple.

Local Red Cross Makes Soldier's Face beam with Joy

A soldier of the World War, who comes under the jurisdiction of the Nodaway County Chapter of the American Red Cross, was wounded in the service. After being discharged from the hospital he was given a partial disability rating and placed on a compensation of $8 a month. In April 1921, he was called to a government hospital for treatment. He was forced to remain for seven months. Not being able to earn and having no income other than the $8 a month he left the hospital practically destitute.

The veteran turned to the local Red Cross chapter and asked for a loan. It was arranged for him through Miss Betty Turner, executive secretary, who also began working for the $80 a month to which the man was entitled during the time that he was in the hospital. The government mills grind slowly and it was only a short time ago that the man received the money due him. He came in immediately with a beaming face and paid the Red Cross the money he had borrowed.

This is only one of the many cases in which the Red Cross helps the needy ex-service man through its loan fund, according to Miss Turner.

He had done four years graduate work in Boston university and has been spending the summer in the graduate school of the University of Chicago. After a wedding trip through the West Mr. and Mrs. Vance will reside in Oklahoma City, where Mr. Vance is professor of religious education and philosophy in Oklahoma City college."

MANY STOCKMEN AND FARMERS AT JACKSON & CO. SALE

500 Head Are Auctioned—Calves at $24.50 to $26.50—Different Sizes

A large crowd of stockmen and farmers from this section of the state and some from Iowa were gathered this afternoon at the stock yards at the Burlington station to attend the sale of Joseph Jackson & Company, who are selling about 500 head of cattle at public auction. The cattle were run out in lots of twenty-five. Up to 2:30 o'clock those sold were calves, weighing from 400 to 500 pounds. A number of lots that had been put up brought from $24.50 to $26.50 a head. R. P. Hosmer was auctioneer and was selling the bunches pretty fast.

A large number of heavier cattle remained in the pens to be sold. Most of them were black. Those being sold were either red or white-faced cattle.

Space for parking motor cars around the Burlington station was at a premium, inspite of the fact that the roads throughout this section are muddy.

The cattle were shipped here from Texas.

YANKS SEEM TO HAVE ABOUT CINCHED THE PENNANT

By Defeating Browns They Are Game and a Half Ahead—Seven Games in World's Series.

By defeating the St. Louis Browns yesterday the New York Yankees took a three-games series and increased their lead in the American League pennant race to one and one-half games and almost cinched their chances for the flag. The score of yesterday's game was 3 to 2.

The game was a pitchers battle between Davis of the Browns and Bush of the Yanks until the ninth inning when the former weakened and the Yanks won. Previous to the ninth frame the score was one to a goose-egg in favor of the Browns.

Dopesters figure that the Brown's change is gone and that the Yanks will retain their lead. Although the Browns play weaker teams and the Yanks play Detroit and Cleveland, it is believed that the New York team will win the pennant.

If this is true then the worlds series will be played in New York as the New York Giants have a six game lead in the National League race.

The World Series this year will be only seven games instead of the nine game series which have been played since 1919. Fans, the country over, have objected to the longer series and Judge Landis favors the seven game contest, so that's what it will be.

LOCAL LEGION MEN ASKED TO GO WITH ST. JOSEPH

Six Sleeping Cars for accommodation on the Way, Return and While in New Orleans

Dr. R. C. Person, commander of the James Edward Gray Post, American Legion, has received from the Malcolm MacDonald post of St. Joseph a letter explaining the plan for going from St. Joseph to the American Legion Convention, to take place in New Orleans October 15 to 20. The letter follows:

"Probably you know that the Malcolm MacDonald post and Donald Duncan post of St. Joseph have arranged for six cars to go to New Orleans convention. These cars will be parked in parking space at New Orleans and the price for the entire trip will be as follows:

"Standard—Lower berth $20, upper berth $17.50.

"Tourists—Lower berth $11, upper berth $8.50.

"The majority of fellows will probably want to go in the tourists' cars to save expenses and the most of the women and married couples will probably be in the standard cars. Should two fellows like to occupy one berth together, it is alright and no additional expense, they simply divide the cost of the berth.

"Reservations should be made at once to the transportation committee, New Orleans Convention, 818 Frederick avenue, St. Joseph. They must be made in writing, designating what reservation is wanted and accompanied by a deposit to cover the cost of the berth. Arrangements will be made in the order the reservations are made, so for positive assurance of definite arrangement they should be made at once.

"We leave St. Joseph October 14 at 9:30 o'clock in the evening, arriving in New Orleans at 9 o'clock Monday morning. On the return trip the cars will leave New Orleans at 6 o'clock Friday evening and arrive in St. Joseph at 9 o'clock Sunday morning.

Should a bunch of fellows from one town wish to be together they should send in their reservations together and we will try our best to keep them together in the assignment of berths."

(Signed) Committee on Transportation,

818 Frederick Avenue,
St. Joseph, Mo.

Taking the berths would entitle the men to hold them as quarters while in New Orleans, thus eliminating the expense of hotel beds and the uncertainty of getting them.

Mrs. Henry Turk, 530 West Fourth street, and her friend, Miss Carrie Peers, who has been here for some time, will leave tonight for Alton, Ill., where they will remain for some time.

MANY SEEK JOB AS HERMIT IN WOODS.

Taunton, Sept. 19—England seems to possess quite a number of would-be hermits.

A short time ago this advertisement appeared in a number of newspapers:

"Wanted, a hermit to inhabit remote cottage in big woods, available at once. Small rent to one not afraid foxes and poachers."

Next day there were 150 applications for hermithood from every part of England.

The cottage belongs to the Duke of Devonshire, and contains two rooms and bakehouse downstairs, three bedrooms upstairs, garden, orchard, stable, and well of water. The successful applicant came from Cardiff and he now has the cottage "Approach bad and garden run wild." at a rental of five pounds a year.

WASHINGTON REVOLVES AROUND WHITE HOUSE; ALWAYS SOCIAL CENTER.

(By George R. Holmes)
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

Washington, Sept. 19.—The White House is the hub of the capital. All the rest of Washington constitutes merely the spokes in the wheel of government. When the White House functions Washington functions, and when the White House stops, Washington stops.

This has frequently been illustrated in the past, but never more strikingly than in Mrs. Harding's recent and nearly fatal illness. The entire capital, Congress included, figuratively stood still and marked time for several suspense-filled days while the mistress of the White House hovered between life and death at No. 1,600 Pennsylvania avenue.

It is difficult for anyone outside Washington to realize how completely the White House dominates Washington in a social way.

Most of the dinners and the banquets and the parties that are arranged in diplomatic and official circles are arranged with an eye to what the White House is doing on that particular night. Guest lists have to be arranged with the White House in view—else there would be conflicts.

Not only socially does Washington suspend activities, but officially, also, to a great degree. Senators and Congressmen who ordinarily would not hesitate to take their troubles to the Executive's office stay away and refrain from bothering the President when he is subjected to personal cares. Cabinet officers refrain from sending to the White House their usual flow of official papers for Executive perusal.

For the time being Washington slows down.

Mrs. Harding's steady improvement, after being at death's door, is a source of genuine joy to most of Washington, for seldom has there been a mistress of the White House who enjoyed more personal popularity than Mrs. Harding.

It is no uncommon sight for her to stroll unconcernedly out into the grounds and talk to the dozens of tourists and visitors who pass daily through the spacious grounds that surround the mansion.

"How do you do, I'm Mrs. Harding?" is her usual greeting, and then:

"Where are you from?"

If the answer happens to be "Ohio"—as it frequently is—the chances are that within five minutes some mutual acquaintances have been mentioned, for Mrs. Warren G. Harding knows her Ohio. She wasn't the wife of a Senator from Ohio for some years, and she didn't campaign the State with her husband, for nothing. She knows Ohio.

Mrs. Harding has an aversion to publicity so far as herself is concerned.

During the campaign at the front porch some of the Republican managers wanted to "write her up," as she expressed it, for publicity use by the National Committee. She would have none of it.

"No sir," she said firmly. "You can write all you want about Warren, but leave me out if it, please."

This aversion to personal publicity has been carried into the White House. She has been besieged by people, who want to write the story of her life, etc., but she has turned them all down.

Recently a Washington correspondent who had covered the Marion headquarters was ordered by his home office to rush an obituary of Mrs. Harding to be filed in the newspaper "morgue," for emergency use.

The correspondent was somewhat nonplussed. There wasn't one extant that he knew of, so he went direct to "headquarters" and asked Mrs. Harding for the material out of which one might be written.

"No you don't," she said, laughing. "I know that in all well regulated newspaper offices there are 'morgues,' but I never had any desire to appear there.

"When I am dead it won't be interesting, and while I'm alive it doesn't make any difference!"

SEVERAL CHANGES MADE IN PASTORS FOR COUNTY

Pickering will have Lane Douglas who for the past year was at Ridgeway and who has been pastor of the Parnell, Skidmore and Burlington Junction churches. J. O. Taylor who goes to Quitman has been at Wesley Church in St. Joseph. C. F. Jenkins goes from Elmo to Rock Port. J. J. Cokley who was at Centennial last year goes to Skidmore.

W. B. Christy, a former superintendent who made his home in Maryville, was sent to Braymer.

O. L. Curl of Maryville who is going to retire from the ministry to enter the practice of law was given a leave of absence. C. E. Olson of Skidmore was given leave to attend school. J. D. Mendenhall who was at Burlington Junction from 1900 to 1904 is field agent conference claimants endowment, Brookfield circuit. W. F. Burris, formerly at Maryville, is superintendent of the Missouri Episcopal Hospital, St. Joseph.

CURL GIVEN YEAR'S LEAVE OF ABSENCE AT CONFERENCE

Dr. O. L. Curl, who returned last night from the annual conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, held at Braymer, was given a year's leave of absence from the ministry of his church. He says, however, that he does not intend again to enter the ministry and that he only asked for the leave on account of a desire to complete twenty years as a minister of the church. Next March will mark the close of twenty years in the ministry for Dr. Curl. There is an arrangement in the Methodist Episcopal Church whereby any minister who has served for ten years consecutively can take a year's leave of absence. It is on this arrangement that Dr. Curl gets the leave.

"DUMB" IS CORRECT- BEGS ORALLY FOR AID

The beggar, who had been doing a fine business here, with a sign pinned on his breast reading, "I an Deaf and Dumb," was either visited by a miracle or attacked with absent-mindedness, suddenly asked one of the citizens to give him money to help his widowed mother. The beggar beat a hasty retreat.

ANYBODY NEED A CHURCH? HERE IS ONE FOR SALE

Clinton, Mass., Sept. 19.—Church for sale.

One perfectly good Methodist Episcopal Church, landmark in this city for seventy-five years, is for sale. Persons wishing a church are advised to send bids to the Rev. D. Stewart Smith, the pastor, who values the edifice at $15,000. The money accruing from the sale will be used to erect a new church near the Town Hall.

ATLANTA COPS PEEVED AT IMPATIENT AUTOISTS

Atlanta, Ga., Sept. 19—Who's running the traffic, anyway?

That's what Atlanta cops long peeved at the practice of motorists of their horns while in a line of vehicles as a warning to the traffic officer they are ready to go—would like to know.

They went to Councilman Bob Gordon about it, and Bob said he'd see about it. He introduced an ordinance making it a nuisance for autoists to so conduct themselves.

HOGS EAT RUBBER TIRE OFF GEAR OF AIRPLANE

Greenville, O., Sept. 19.—While Ed Jacks and a companion from Dayton were seeing the sights at the county fair recently, leaving the airplane in which they had flown from their home in a field south of the fair grounds, hogs ate one of the rubber tires of the landing wheels. A trip to Dayton for a new tire was necessary.

MEETING TO ORGANIZE ORCHESTRA HELD TONIGHT

Indications Are That It Will Be Better This Year Than Ever Before

All students of the State Teachers College who wish to be members of the College orchestra for this year have been requested to meet at the conservatory of music tonight for the purpose of organizing the orchestra. C. D. Kutschinski, director, asks that all who come bring their instruments in order that the first rehearsal may be had tonight.

The College Orchestra this year should surpass all others in many ways. It will be larger and there will be more of a variety of instruments.

Several students who played in the Maryville High School orchestra last year are now enrolled at the College and have signified their intention of entering the orchestra. In addition there are other new students with musical talents.
